CASCADE KENDO-KAI

At their May 17 meeting the PNKF Board voted regular full dojo status for Cascade. Congratulations, Cascade Kendo-Kai!

THE LAST WORD

First, the eye is all-important. Needless to say, you can't afford to lose sight of your rival. Particularly in tsuki you can't miss his eye even for a moment. Miss his eye, and you'll be out of balance. It has been forbidden to close your eyes even when the rival's sword plunges into you. Keep staring at his eye until the last moment of life. Seeing in Kendo is divided into two, seeing a part and seeing the whole. One more thing about the eye. One has to train to be able to see through the chest so one can recognize a mole in the back. So taught the Buddha.
